ONLINE LEARNING	OFFLINE LEARNING
Online learning refers to a process where students get access to education and knowledge via virtual classrooms	Offline learning refers to traditional education that allows students to have face-to-face interactions with teachers and peer groups
Happens in a virtual classroom	Can take place inside or outside the traditional classroom
Mode of teaching is more digitalized and use many online learning tools such as audios, videos, virtual whiteboards, animations, live chats, and virtual conference rooms	Allows students to acquire knowledge inside a more practical environment, giving students a chance to interact with teachers and peers

MAKE LIFE DIFFICULT FOR STUDENTS

- Move children around the classroom (they should get used to sitting at different desks, at different distances from the speakers)
- Use different types of audios (good/bad quality; men/women speaking; native/non-native speakers; different speed; background noises, etc...)

- Competitive in developing interpersonal skills of students; not much competition can be seen among students
- Tends to be more interactive and competitive
- It's easy to join online learning as long as students have a computer and a good internet connection
- To join offline learning, students need to travel to the education institute, which can be time consuming
